Fortifying Futures –
Strategic Cybersecurity, Resilient
Innovation, and Ethical AI

Julie C. Chatman, MBA, CISM, is a nationally recognized cybersecurity and risk leader with 20+ years of experience aligning security, compliance, and innovation across government, healthcare, and finance. A former FBI leader, she has since advised Fortune 100s, Cabinet officials, and nonprofit boards on digital risk, AI governance, and resilience strategy. Julie has led responses to high-impact privacy incidents, designed enterprise-wide security transformations, and developed intellectual property for McKinsey & Company's cybersecurity practice. She is also CEO of ResilientTech Advisors, a sought-after voice at the intersection of cybersecurity, business enablement, and ethical AI, and mentor to emerging cyber talent.
