

Priyanka Vergadia

Translating Tech into Triumph - Visual Storyteller, Tech Leader, Innovation Catalyst

Priyanka Vergadia is a transformative technology leader who makes complex tech concepts accessible through pioneering visual storytelling. As Senior Director of Global Developer Engagement at Microsoft Azure and former North America Developer Advocacy lead at Google Cloud, she's partnered with C-suite executives to drive major product launches including Gemini's go-to-market strategy. Her #1 bestselling book "Visualizing Google Cloud" has sold over 20K copies and is being translated into multiple languages. With a unique blend of technical expertise and creative communication, Priyanka has built an audience of 2M+ view and engagement through her distinctive visual content. Beyond her corporate impact, she shapes future tech leaders as faculty at the University of Pennsylvania's School of Engineering, where she also serves on the board of their online education program. Her 15+ years of technology experience spans cloud computing, AI, product strategy, and developer relations.
